Dear Families of Trinity Gardens School,

SHOWCASE MORNING
MONDAY 25 SEPTEMBER
8.15 - 9.15AM

The staff and students are looking forward to seeing you all bright and early next Monday morning from 8.15-9.15am for our Show Case Morning. Your child will have a passport they can use as a checklist to show you around the school. Children enjoy having their families see what they do at school.

Festival of Music

Congratulations to our choir who performed at the Festival of Music on Wednesday night last week. Thank you to Blair Price for his work preparing the choir for this special event.

Strategies for screen time

With the school holidays fast approaching it is timely to remind parents about the need to check on children's safety in using various technological devices. In many households the internet has become an integral part of life for people of all ages. It provides access to a myriad of information and enables people to research, create and communicate in new and exciting ways. The following is an excerpt from the Kids Matter website.

Children take their behavioural cues from the world around them. Screen time - the time spent watching television, playing computer games and being on the internet - is a big influence on children's understanding of right and wrong and the way they develop socially. Think of all the TV shows and theme songs lodged in your subconscious from childhood!

For families, it can sometimes feel like a massive task to ensure children aren't coming into contact with bad language, overly-mature content, or inappropriate role models through the media. Studies linking excess screen time to childhood obesity and impaired brain development in babies and toddlers is also concerning.

The upside is that with effective limits and adult guidance, school-aged children can generally learn to take an element of responsibility for their TV, internet and gaming habits. Here are some ideas you might like to try at home.

Talking through why some content is acceptable and why some isn't involves kids in the decision-making process. Choose a list of acceptable programs, games and websites together and show them that you trust them to stick to it.

Vandalism

Our school had some damage from vandals over the last few weekends. Some gates around the school will be locked to counteract this however, families are still welcome to use the track and Portrush Forest on the weekends. If you do see any suspicious behaviour or groups who you feel shouldn't be at our school please contact the police immediately on P: 131 444.

This way there are no surprises for them if they deviate from what has been agreed on.

Set a time limit on their daily or weekly screen time habits. For example, you could introduce an ‘hour of power’ once a day or several times a week during which they are free to choose from your preapproved games, programs and websites. Being up-front about the time frame means fewer arguments when it’s time to switch off and go outside.

Treat screen time as a privilege, not a right. You wouldn’t feed children chocolate and sweets for every meal as they’re not the healthiest foods around. Yet you may not exclude them entirely from the pantry either. You could treat screen time in the same way with children - as a privilege, not as a given and one that is linked to their behaviour.

Teach good online behaviours. It’s really important to talk about what is and isn’t acceptable online conduct with your child and show them that they can come to you with any questions or problems. If you feel like cyberspace isn’t your strong suit, fear not. Parents and carers can get up to speed with a host of free cybersafety resources for families from the Government’s Cybersmart website.

Avoid advertising where possible. As you know, ‘pester power’ works. Children are very literal beings and ads can impact on their values, sense of the world, and even self-confidence. Look into content without ads or that is pre-recorded so you can fast-forward through the commercials. You could even talk to your children about the realities of advertising.

In closing I would like to take this opportunity to wish everyone a well-earned rest over the holidays and I look forward to Term 4.

Kind regards
Marg Erwin
Principal

NEWS FROM THE FOREST

The plant nursery is edging towards completion, with the shelving constructed over the last 2 weekends (thanks to Craig, Adrian, Luci and Paul). We now have the fun job of spreading gravel around the edges of the paving and then setting up the work benches, just in time for spring planting!

So if you have a bit of time this Sunday morning, please join us for a bit of gardening fun. We’ll be constructing compost bays for green waste, spreading mulch on the forest floor and gravel in the nursery. Oh and maybe pull a weed or two!

Happy spring!

Jacqui Hunter
(Friends of Portrush Forest)

SCIENCE NEWS

Working bee

An occasion when volunteers come together to carry out communal work.

When? 24 September - this Sunday morning - and yes it may rain!

Working bees happen when parents, grandparents and carers in our school community are prepared to give up one Sunday morning, once or twice a year, volunteering to come to school (bring your kids along - they could even help!) and work as a community in the school grounds. It actually feels good to be a part of likeminded group.

This has happened for decades in South Australian schools and it is a way of keeping the grounds in good order.

There is weeding, mulch spreading and stake removal or replacement. The plant nursery area is so close to being finished - many hands make it happen quick.

So bring along some garden tools, wheelbarrow or even just a bucket and garden gloves.

And hopefully someone can sort the weather for us as well - just for the morning!
